in Toronto to do honor to Robert Raikes in a ceremony of dedication of a great bronze statue of that famous layman. At the same time, a similar heroic statue will be erected and dedicated at Gloucester, near the site of that historic dwelling in which the first Sunday School was held. Both statues are in replica of the now famous one which stands guard over the Thames on the embankment at Victoria Gardens, London. The original was erected on the 100th anniversary, a gift from the school children of England, who in tribute to Robert Raikes, raised the money for the great bronze figure by the subscription of pennies. Scholars, religious teachers, students and laymen from all over the world will gather in the Canadian city to do honor to Robert Raikes when the statue is dedicated in June, on the occasion of the convention of the International Council of Religious Education. The Toronto statue is the gift of J. L. Kraft, noted philanthropist and business man of the United States, treasurer of the International Council of Religious Education. Mr. Kraft, who is a native of Canada, has been a staunch supporter of Sunday Schools all over the world, and is at present superintendent of a large Sunday School on the north shore, in Chicago. The city of Toronto, by vote of the City Council, will furnish the site for the statue, the base, and the care of the statue in perpetuity.

Cards and Christianity

Mrs. A. B. Sims, of Des Moines, Iowa, winner of the women's whist championship of the U. S. A., was one of the speakers at a Bible conference at Winona, and gave her experience and testimony as follows:

"After I saw what I was really doing, I burned up my whist board and cards, and I should like to speak in every church to the women and tell them what card playing led me to and will lead them to.

"I belong to Christ church, in Des Moines, and when I was most active at the card table, I was also trying to work in the church. My husband was on the board of trustees, and I was at the head of the church sick committee.

"I looked about me in the church and saw that card playing was undermining our organization. The whist playing and euchre craze was sweeping the women of the congregation, and the church was sinking because of their neglect. The fever to play whist acquired such a hold on me that I abandoned my church work; in fact, I quit attending services.

"Finally, Mr. Sims and I fell to discussing it, and we concluded that my identity with the church and the card clubs of Des Moines made my attitude ridiculous. I continued to play cards up to December 17, 1906. I had spent years studying whist from a scientific standpoint. I had given as much thought to the game as a minister of a church could give to the Scriptures.

"Toward the close of my card career, I declared that I would give up euchre and whist parties, but would never abandon the regulation game of whist. On December 17, last year, I heard Dr. J. Wilbur Chapman preach on 'Amusements.' I made up my mind that I would never touch a card again.

"The card craze, as it prevails among the women of this country, is the most serious competitor the church has today. It is causing them to abandon home and church interests. I have had letters from women in every leading city in the United States, in which they declared that the church and society women have gone mad over bridge, whist, and other games. Letters in similar strain have come to me from Canada, Europe, and Mexico.

"It was when these messages began to pour in upon me that the hold cards have taken on civilized women fully dawned on me. I want the women of the country to hear my experience. I want to convince them, if I can, that card playing and Christianity will not go together."—The Christian Intelligencer.

This poem gives one a wee conception of the lovingkindness of God:

Could we with ink the ocean fill,
Were the whole world of parchment made,

Were every single grass a quill,
And every man a scribe by trade;

To write the love of God above
Would drain the ocean dry,
Nor could the scroll contain the whole,

Though stretched from earth to sky."

We are but little happy if we can say how much in being the receivers of such loving kindness. It is God's lovingkindness that makes him so attractive to us and we can say:

"He drew me, and I followed on,
Glad to confess the voice Divine."

God does not force us to his pardon or protection and rest, rather he draws by the magnet of his love. "Knowest thou not that the goodness of the Lord leadeth thee to repentance." He does not force the
