INTRODUCTION

The Bills Family-John V. Wright Papers, 1727-1943, span three generations of the Bills family in Hardeman County, Tennessee. Included in the collection are the papers of John V. Wright (1872-1920), also of Hardeman County. The papers were gifts of the Association for the Preservation of Tennessee Antiquities, Nashville, Tennessee, through the agencies of Dr. Herbert Weaver and Mrs. B. F. Pullman of Columbia, Tennessee. The collection occupies 27.72 linear feet of shelf space, and contains approximately 10, 750 items, and 30 volumes.

There are three other collections of materials related to John Huston Bills in the holdings of the Tennessee State Library and Archives that researchers might also wish to consult. They are: the Bills and Deming Family Books, accession number 2002.024; the John Houston Bills Papers, accession number 1991.034; and the John Houston Bills Papers, 1841-1861, accession number 0418.

Single photocopies of unpublished writings in the Bills Family-John V. Wright Papers may be made for purposes of scholarly research. Publication rights are reserved by the Association for publishing all or part of these papers. Other parties must receive permission from the Association for publication of any of these papers.

SCOPE AND CONTENT NOTE

The Bills Family-John V. Wright Papers, containing approximately 10,750 items and thirty volumes, span the years 1727-1943, but are concentrated in the period 1840-1920. The overall collection is composed of accounts, cards, church records (St. James Church, Bolivar, Tennessee), clippings, correspondence, day books, financial documents, genealogical data (Bills, House, Houston, Miller and Polk families), legal documents, newspapers, photographs, policy (insurance) registers, printed materials, school records, scrapbooks, sermons and several miscellaneous items.

The bulk of the Bills Family Papers are made up of accounts and correspondence. The accounts, consisting of invoices, promissory notes and receipts, largely belong to Major John Houston Bills (1800-1871) and his son Leonidas Bills (1828-1881) with whom he operated the mercantile firm, J. H. Bills and Son, in Bolivar, Tennessee. In addition to the accounts of the elder Bills and his son, there are the insurance accounts and insurance policy registers of John H. Bills, II (1859-1949), who was an agent for several insurance companies during the years, 1897-1945.

Much of the correspondence of the Bills Family and John V. Wright (1872-1920) is of a business nature. The letters of Major Bills and Leonidas Bills concern the operation of their mercantile firm and consists of orders for supplies from such places as Philadelphia, Chicago, New York and Baltimore. Some of the business correspondence pertains to the management of the Bills' plantation "Cornucopia," outside of Bolivar. These letters provide considerable information on the cotton industry during the antebellum years and even later during the turmoil of the Civil War and Reconstruction period. In addition to the family operations in Hardeman County, the Bills family also owned land in Arkansas and Minnesota.

The business correspondence also includes many incoming and outgoing letters of John V. Wright relating to his hardwood saw mills located at Bolivar, Tennessee and Gilmore, Arkansas. Using oak, ash, hickory, persimmon, and dogwood lumber the Wright mills manufactured and supplied such dimension stock as wagon wood, baseball bat squares, coach tongues, golf heads, shuttle blocks and other hardwood items for the automobile, wagon and carriage and athletic equipment manufacturers in northern markets, including Canada. These letters span the period 1914-1920. Additional information about Wright's lumber business is available in the Container List under the headings, "American Hardwood Manufacturers' Association" and "J. V. Wright Lumber Co."

Included in the Bills Family correspondence are a number of letters by Mary Miller Bills (1837-1922), daughter of Pitser Miller and wife of Leonidas Bills. These letters are addressed primarily to her daughter Lillias H. Bills (1870-1955) while the latter was either attending or teaching school in Tennessee, Alabama or Texas.

Of particular interest is a Civil War letter written by Leonidas Bills, October 23, 1864, to his sister Clara McNeal (Bills) Allison (1839-1925) while he was being held as a prisoner-of-war on Johnson's Island. He laments about the shortage of clothes stating that "we are not allowed to get Boots or overcoats." Bills urges his sister to write often and promises he will answer everyone except that he "cannot send out but two letters a week." In the absence of a chronic disease he expresses little hope to get home through a prison exchange [Box 6, Folder 15].

The Bills were related to two famous Tennessee pioneer families: the Houston's and the Polk's. John Houston Bills' mother-in-law, Clarrissa (Polk) McNeal (1782-1846), was a sister of Samuel Polk (1772-1827), the father of James K. Polk, the eleventh President of the United States. In addition, Evalina McNeal Bills' (1836-1926) husband's father, Marshall Tate Polk (1806-1831) was a brother to President Polk. Lastly, John Houston Bills' mother, Lillias (Houston) Bills (1773-1850) was a daughter of Christopher Houston (1744-1837). Christopher's brother Robert was the grandfather of Governor Sam Houston of Texas [See Genealogical Charts]. This part of the collection by providing a connecting link between the Houston and Polk families adds to the genealogical information of early Tennessee families.

Among the identifiable photographs in the collection is a picture of "The Pillars," which was the home of six generations of Major Bills' descendants. The caption above the picture states that the house is over 100 years old and contains sixteen rooms. [Box 37, Folder 9]. "The Pillars" is considered by historians to be one of the best types of antebellum architecture in the State of Tennessee. The Association for Preservation of Tennessee Antiquities was deeded the house in 1973.

Found among the school records are class notes of Clara (Bills) Allison and her niece Evelyn (Tate) Buchanan (c. 1898-). There is a list of the primary pupils of St. Katherine's School in Bolivar in 1918. There are also included teacher's licenses for Clara (Bills) Allison and her sister Frances (Bills) Gannaway (1872-1942).

Lillias Bills' (1870-1955) scrapbook of the Bills Family provides much genealogical data as well as historical information about Bolivar and Hardeman County through announcements (funeral and wedding), clippings, letters, military records (citation), obituaries, photographs, poetry and programs (St. James Church, St. Katherine's School, etc.). There is also included a water color painting of "The Pillars."

Sermons written by Reverend Daniel Stephens (1778-1850), great-grandfather of John Houston Bills (1859-1949) and First Rector (1834-1849) of St. James Episcopal Church, Bolivar are in the collection [Box 20, Folders 3 and 4].

John V. Wright not only was involved in the hardwood lumber business but was a well known and respected breeder of Hampshire hogs in the first two decades of the 1900's. His purebred, Hampshire hog operation may be found under "Bolivar Hampshire Farm Papers" [Box 26, Folders 9-13].
