INTRODUCTION

This collection of Nichols-Britt Papers was obtained from James A. Britt, the son of Mary Nichols Britt, who collected the papers and retained possession of them until her death.

The collection occupies approximately 4.4 cubic feet of shelf space, and numbers approximately 3,000 items.

Literary rights in the unpublished writings of the Nichols, McCowns, McPhails, and Carters in these papers, and other collections of papers in the custody of the Archives and Manuscripts Section of the Tennessee State Library and Archives have been dedicated to the public. Single photocopies of unpublished writings may be made for purposes of scholarly research.

In 1997, the clippings and photographic parts of the collection received conservation treatment. Deteriorating clippings were encapsulated, and oversize clippings were removed from folders, encapsulated, and rehoused in oversized folders. Photographic materials in most instances were removed from their folders, encapsulated or sleeved, and some were placed in new boxes. See finding aid for the new location of these conserved items.

Note: Richardson's Map of Texas, 1867, was removed from the Britt Collection and placed with the TSLA Map Collection, and Map of the Vicinity of Richmond made by order of Major General J. F. Gilmer, CSA was moved to Mss. Drawer Number 1 in Manuscripts.

SCOPE AND CONTENT NOTE

The Nichols-Britt Collection, numbering approximately 3,000 items, spanning the years 1807-1954, is composed primarily of correspondence and early documents relating to the Nichols, McCown, McPhail, and Carter families. In addition, there are some brief diary notes, about 500 photographs, a number of small account books, several day books, and five scrapbooks.

A letter written by John Donelson in 1807 is the earliest date in the correspondence. There is a copy of a letter written by John Nichols, an emigrant from England. He had come to North Carolina in 1760 at the age of 17 years and had fought with the colonists in 1776 against England. For this military service, he was granted land in Tennessee. In addition to the grants which he had earned, he purchased a number of grants belonging to Revolutionary soldiers who did not wish to move to Tennessee. There are also some slave deeds in the papers.

A number of surveys with plat maps of the same dates, one of which is signed by John Donelson, are bound together and are among the oldest items in the collection. John Nichols (sometimes spelled Nichol), the emigrant, accumulated a large estate of land and Negroes before his death in 1815. In the copy of his early letter to a sister in England, he urged her to come to this country and he would give her some land. His son, John Nichols, Jr., was made administrator of his father's estate at his death. This son married Elizabeth McCown, who is known throughout the correspondence as "Sister Betsy," "Aunt Betsy," "Mother," and later as "Grandma."

Her brothers, R. W. and J. W. McCown, wrote her numerous letters. Her children, whose letters are in the collection, are George S. Nichols, Sallie Nichols Bateman (who lived in Mississippi), and Ninnie Nichols Cliffe. Another child, James McAlister (Blackhawk) Nichols, is mentioned in the letters a number of times by others. George S. Nichols married Alice McPhail, daughter of Daniel and Mary Carter McPhail. Mary Carter McPhail was the daughter of F. B. Carter, and the sister of Tod Carter, who was killed in 1864 near his home, The Carter House, during the Battle of Franklin.

Daniel and John A. McPhail were sons of a Scottish emigrant who moved to Williamson County. These brothers were business partners in Fayetteville and Shelbyville, Tennessee. Early in 1854, Daniel McPhail and his family moved to Texas. John's letters to Dan for the years 1854-1861 are filled with sentiments of devotion for Dan and his family. In 1860, Dan's wife, Mary Carter McPhail, and children came to visit her father, F. B. Carter. Early in 1861, the Civil War started and nothing more was heard from Dan until he returned in 1865. According to the collection, John died in 1863.

Mary Nichols was the daughter of George S. and Alice McPhail Nichols. She married James Alphonso Britt in 1898. Her father was a Confederate veteran who had lost an eye during the war. He was a tax collector for several years, and lived in Franklin, Tennessee until his death in 1918. A number of his letters and sketches concerning the Civil War are in this collection.

These papers trace the families included in this collection back to the earliest settlements in Williamson and Davidson counties.
