INTRODUCTION

The papers of Robert Boyte Crawford Howell (1878-1955), businessman; historian; jurist; lawyer; public official; Chancellor of Part I of the Seventh Chancery Division of Tennessee (1928-1940); and Judge, Middle Division, Tennessee Court of Appeals (1940-1955); span the years 1838-1963. The Robert Boyte Crawford Howell Papers were given to the Tennessee State Library and Archives by Mrs. Gerald Henderson, of Nashville, Tennessee, 1966-1968.

The materials in this finding aid measure 10.08 linear feet. There are no restrictions on the materials. Single photocopies of unpublished writings in the Robert Boyte Crawford Howell Papers may be made for purposes of scholarly research.

SCOPE AND CONTENT

The Robert Boyte Crawford Howell Papers, containing approximately 4,500 items and 20 volumes, span the years 1838-1963. The collection is composed of accounts, business papers, club and organization papers, correspondence, a diary, genealogical data, lecture notes, legal documents, legislative bills, military records, newspaper clippings, pictures, programs, publications, school records, sketches (biographical and general), and speeches.

Correspondence for the years 1865-1957 deals with such topics as business affairs including those of Boscobel College, Mount Olivet Cemetery Company and the Phillips and Buttorff Manufacturing Company; club fraternal and literary organizations including the Elks Club, Lions Club, Knights of Pythias, Knights Templar, Round Table Club, and the Vanderbilt Law Class of 1899; genealogical data for the Howell and related families including the memoir of Howell's father, Morton Boyte Howell (1834-1909), and information concerning Howell's grandfather, R.B.C. Howell (1801-1868), pastor of the First Baptist Church, Nashville, Tennessee, (1835-1850 and 1857-1867) and president of the Southern Baptist Convention (1851-1858); government agencies including the Nashville and Middle Tennessee Selective Service Boards (1917-1919) and the Nashville War Price and Rationing Board (1942-1945); historical society activities including those of the Tennessee Historical Society; horse racing; judicial activities of the Chancery Court, Part I, Nashville, Tennessee, the Tennessee Court of Appeals, and the Tennessee Bar Association; politics and government, and the publication of Howell's articles and sketches.

Prominent correspondents include Alfred T. Adams, George H. Armistead, Jr., Richard M. Atkinson, Gene Autry, Nathan L. Bachman, Newton D. Baker, John H. Bankhead, Richard B. Baptist, Edward E. Barthell, Fannie Battle, Roy H. Beeler, Louis D. Bejach, George L. Berry, Lynn Bomar, Harvie Branscomb, John W. Bricker, C. Beverly Briley, Ambrose B. Broadbent, Harvey Broome, Lytle Brown, Gordon Browning, Lucius E. Burch, Henry W. Buttorff, Joseph W. Byrns, O.C. Carmichael, Joe C. Carr, Walter Chandler, Frank G. Clement, Wynne F. Clouse, Jeri Cooper, Prentice Cooper, Wirt Courtney, Thad A. Cox, E.H. Crump, Homer S. Cummings, Thomas L. Cummings, John T. Cunningham, Donald Davidson, J.D.B. DeBow, John H. DeWitt, Jacob M. Dickinson, Lee Douglas, Silliman Evans, Walter W. Faw, S.L. Felts, Jimmie Fiddler, Millsaps Fitzhugh, Dancey Fort, Hallum W. Goodloe, Albert Gore, Grafton Green, Gerald D. Henderson, Tom Henderson, Douglas Henry, Joe W. Henry, J. Roy Hickerson, Lister Hill, John J. Hooker, Stanley F. Horn, Louis M. Howe, Hillary E. Howse, Cordell Hull, Estes Kefauver, J.H. Kirkland, J. Carlton Loser, Hill McAlister, Jim McCord, Robert A. McGaw, Kenneth McKellar, James C. McReynolds, Sam D. McReynolds, Thomas H. Malone, Mary D. Moore, Lem Motlow, Frank Murphy, Chester W. Nimitz, Mary T. Orr, J. Percy Priest, William A. Provine, Robert T. Quarles, Joe T. Robinson, Franklin D. Roosevelt, Daniel C. Roper, Tom C. Rye, J.D. Senter, John K.

Shields, Rutledge Smith, James G. Stahlman, A.T. Stewart, Frank M. Thompson, Ben West, Robert H. White and Samuel C. Williams.

Prominent persons mentioned in the correspondence include Alben W. Barkley, William C. Binkley, Louis D. Brandeis, Rufus C. Burleson, John Catron, Robin Cooper, Clarence S. Darrow, Elmer D. Davis, Jefferson Davis, John N. Garner, Felix Grundy, Harvey H. Hannah, Sam Houston, Andrew Jackson, Luke Lea, Eugene C. Lewis, Charles M. McCabe, James H. Malone, Austin Peay, John J. Pershing, Edward T. Sanford, John Philip Sousa, Edward B. Stahlman, William Strickland, William H. Taft, Cornelius Vanderbilt, Clarence B. Wallace, Samuel C. Williams, and Woodrow Wilson.

A number of items in the collection concern the Howell family, particularly Howell's grandfather, Robert Boyte Crawford Howell (1801-1868), and Howell's father, Morton Boyte Howell (1834-1909). The two issues of The Baptist dated 1838 were edited by R.B.C. Howell at the time of his first pastorate at First Baptist Church, Nashville, Tennessee. Among the papers Morton Boyte Howell included are a college catalog of the University of Virginia, 1854-1855, lecture notes from the University of Virginia, 1850-1854, and a copy of the address delivered to the alumni of Richmond College in 1879.

The collection is concentrated in the years 1912-1939 and provides a view of this period from the vantage point of one actively involved in public service including the chairmanship of the Davidson County Board of Election Commissioners (1912-1922) and on the bench as Chancellor of the Nashville Chancery Court, Part I (1928-1940), and as Judge of the Tennessee Court of Appeals (1940-1955).

Politics and government in Tennessee and the nation during the New Deal period is well documented particularly in the extensive correspondence engaged in by Howell and his numerous friends in what proved to be an unsuccessful effort to secure a federal judgeship appointment for Howell and for Middle Tennessee.

Howell's broad interests in and knowledge of public affairs is further illustrated by the quantity and scope of his articles and sketches included in the collection. Biographical sketches on great American jurists include those for Clarence Darrow, Felix Grundy, and William Howard Taft. His series of sketches on rivers includes one for the Tennessee River. Other sketches deal with such topics as cemeteries, churches, foreign relations, law, military affairs, and travel.
