COLLECTION SUMMARY

Creator:

Bailey, James Lovell, 1908-1994

Inclusive Dates:

1890-1987, bulk 1930-1987

Scope & Content:

The James Lovell Bailey (1908-1994) Papers, 1890-1987, consist primarily of correspondence, speeches, subject files, writing, and a photograph collection related to Bailey's work at the Education Division of the Tennessee Department of Conservation. The letters of several prominent Tennessee politicians are included in the correspondence component of the collection; those of Governors Jim Nance McCord and Frank Clement and then-Senator Albert Gore Jr. are noteworthy. Most of the correspondence concerns the Department of Conservation and conservation efforts across the state; however, some of it is personal or family-connected, such as greeting and sympathy cards.

A number of personal items relate to Bailey's daughter, Annie Elizabeth, who wrote the booklet of poems and short essays called "Reflections of a Growing Girl." Examples of her school records are present in the collection. Several of the photographs and negatives depict her and other members of the Bailey family.

James Lovell Bailey's personal material includes his World War II-era application for gas mileage ration, a 1934 voting certificate, genealogical records, and grade reports. The remaining matter illuminates his conservation work: agreements, newspaper clippings, copies of land records, and other printed material.

The collection's 813 photographs document Bailey's work with the Department of Conservation. Each is labeled, numbered, and listed on the index following the container list. A number of negatives reside in the collection but are not included in the index. These are stored in the vault.

Two boxes of oversized material contain photographs, broadsides, paintings, newspapers, and prints.

Administrative/Biographical History

James Lovell Bailey was born in Portland, Sumner County, Tennessee, in 1908. He was educated at Middle Tennessee State University, Western Kentucky State University, George Washington University, and the University of Tennessee. Bailey was employed by the federal government from 1930 to 1937 working in the Bureau of the Census and the Department of Agriculture. After returning to Tennessee in 1937 to accept a job with the newly-created state Department of Conservation, he worked almost continuously in the department's Education Division. During World War II, he spent three years on active duty in the United States Navy.

As an employee of the Education Division, Bailey worked closely with the Department of Education. In 1956, he was named Director of Educational Service at the Department of Conservation, and later served as a member of the State Curriculum Committee. A certified teacher, Bailey was active in teacher training, workshops, and camps that emphasized conservation. Popular annual workshops were conducted jointly by the University of Tennessee, Department of Conservation, and Tennessee Forestry Training Camps for Future Farmers. These hands-on seminars took place at Fall Creek Falls.

Bailey was editor-in-chief of Tennessee Conservationist magazine and a member and prominent leader of the American Association for Conservation Information, the National Association of Conservation Education and Publicity, and the Conservation Education Association. He coauthored an elementary school textbook entitled Our Land and Our Living.

James Lovell Bailey married Fairrelle Brown on June 1, 1940. They had one daughter, Annie Elizabeth Bailey.
