INTRODUCTION

The Dr. Walter H. Storer Photograph Collection (THS 678) consists of 1,846 photographic slides, approximately 400 negatives and 127 copy prints. Dr. Storer was a Assistant Professor of Romance Languages at Vanderbilt University from 1929 to 1949, and Associate Professor in the same department from 1950 to his retirement in 1966. Dr. Walter Storer was an avid photographer, and his subjects include Vanderbilt University (including buildings, events and individuals); Nashville, Tennessee, (including the 1937 Nashville flood, Sulphur Dell ballpark, Percy Warner Park, Fort Negley, Capitol Hill and the countryside around Nashville); Memphis, Tennessee; Chattanooga and Lookout Mountain, Tennessee; many countryside scenes around Tennessee; and numerous friends and acquaintances of Dr. Storer.

The collection was purchased by the Tennessee Historical Society from Willie A. Harris, address unknown.

The collection is comprised of six archival boxes of various sizes, occupying approximately three cubic feet of shelf space. Boxes 1-2 contain the photograph slides of this collection; its container list is separate from this document. Boxes 5-6 contain photograph negatives of various subjects relative to this collection.

The photographic slides of the Dr. Walter H. Storer Collection are contained in Boxes 1 and 2. These archival boxes contain six archival cartons each, with approximately 150 slides in each carton. These cartons are individually numbered. Hence, the container list for the slides show them as 1-1, meaning Box #1, Carton #1; 2-3, meaning Box #2, Carton #3. Each slide is individually and consecutively numbered #1 through #1846.

Copies of the items contained in this collection may be made for scholarly purposes, with permission of the Tennessee Historical Society.

SCOPE AND CONTENT NOTE

The Dr. Walter H. Storer Photograph Collection is comprised of hundreds of wonderful photographs of Tennessee and Vanderbilt University, during the 1930s through the 1950s. Dr. Storer was a Professor of Romance Languages at Vanderbilt during this period, and was an avid photographer and traveler. Not only did he photograph the University and his acquaintances there, but also many locations to which he traveled in Tennessee.

There are over one thousand color slides of numerous subjects in this collection. These subjects include many places within Nashville and Davidson County. Of these the most significant are images of Fort Negley–a Union Army Civil War fortification located southeast of downtown Nashville. During the 1930s, this historic site was renovated by the Works Progress Administration. Storer and his friends visited the site several times, and there are many slides and prints of the fort.

Also of interest are many photographs of Nashville's downtown area, notably the State Capitol area, the War Memorial Building and Memorial Plaza, the Railroad "Gulch" area and the Sulphur Dell baseball field, where the Nashville "Vols" semi-professional baseball team played. There are several very interesting photographs of the Cumberland River, frozen during a bitter winter in the 1930s, with many individuals walking across the river. Also, there are many photographs of a flood (presumably the Flood of 1937), when most of the lower Broadway area and First Avenue was flooded by the Cumberland River. There are many photographs of the riverboats Wenonah and Hollywood, while docked at the First Avenue wharf in Nashville, taken in the 1930s.

Included with the series of Nashville photographs are many slides of Centennial Park, Lake Watauga and the Parthenon taken in the 1940s. Dr. Storer presumably was a patron of floral beauty as there are many slides of the gardens in Centennial Park, all in full bloom, and many residences in Nashville with colorful trees and shrubs on their properties. There are many slides of the Warner Parks, and the Steeplechase events held at the parks.

Dr. Storer was an avid supporter of Vanderbilt. There are many photographs of the Vanderbilt campus and student life at "Vandy." Several buildings on campus found in the collection include Kirkland Hall, Buttrick Hall, Calhoun Hall, the Alumni Memorial Building, Neeley Auditorium, Garland Hall, Wesley Hall, the Library, the School of Nursing, and the School of Medicine. Several photographs of the fire that destroyed Wesley Hall at Vanderbilt University in 1932 are found in the collection. There are many photographs of the campus of Peabody College and Scarritt College, both now owned by Vanderbilt University. There are several photographs of football games, one between the University of Tennessee vs. Vanderbilt University game played probably in the early 1940s. This game was held at Shields-Watkins Field located on the campus of the University of Tennessee at Knoxville.

Professor Storer traveled a great deal across Tennessee, and he made many photographs of various locations during his visits. Subjects include Ashland City, Tenn.; the Narrows of the Harpeth; Bolivar, Tenn.; Bon Air, Tenn.; the Caney Fork River; Cannon County, Tenn.; Center Hill Reservoir; Centerville, Tenn.; Chattanooga, Tenn. and Lookout Mountain; Dayton, Tenn.; Fall Creeks Falls; the Great Smoky Mountains National Park; the Hermitage; Knoxville, Tenn.; Memphis, Tenn.; the Natural Bridge near Waynesboro; the Sequatchie Valley; the Shiloh National Military Park; and the Watts Bar Dam. Because of the number of interesting subjects in this collections, patrons are urged to review the finding aid for the photograph slides.

Another interesting series of slides involve the visit of the French Merci train to Nashville in February, 1949. One of the ways the Republic of France paid gratitude to the people of the United States for its involvement in the Second World War was by sending a train car decorated by the schoolchildren of France to the U.S. The train was displayed at the War Memorial Plaza, and Dr. Storer took several photographs of it (see slides #733-#741).

Also interesting are four slides of the visit by Vice Presidential candidate Richard M. Nixon to Nashville's War Memorial Plaza in 1952. These slides are numbers 1142 to 1145.

The photographs and slides in the Dr. Walter H. Storer Collection are a rich source of documentary history about Vanderbilt University, Nashville and Tennessee during the 1930's through the 1950's.
