INTRODUCTION

This finding aid focuses on the papers of William Strickland conductor of the Nashville Symphony Orchestra for five seasons, 1946-1951. Spanning the years 1945-1970, the papers describe how Mr. Strickland was encouraged to apply, after World War II, for the position of conductor of the Nashville Symphony Orchestra, his acclaimed successes in leading the Nashville musical group for five consecutive seasons., and his reason for departure after the 1950-1951 season.

The materials were purchased by the Tennessee Historical Society in 1991 from the A. C. Richard Pinto & Co., of Turnbull, Connecticut.

The materials in this finding aid measure 3.0 cubic feet. There are no restrictions on the materials. Single photocopies of unpublished writings in the William Strickland Nashville Symphony Orchestra Papers may be made for individual or scholarly research.

SCOPE AND CONTENT NOTE

The William Strickland Nashville Symphony Orchestra Papers, containing approximately 145 items, span the period 1945-1970, although the bulk is largely concentrated in the years 1945-1951. The collection is composed of correspondence, photographs, programs, recordings, scrapbooks, and several miscellaneous items.

A substantial portion of the collection consists of correspondence including letters between Strickland and Walter Sharp, President of the Nashville Civic Music Association; the NBC radio broadcast of the Nashville Symphony Orchestra on January 15, 1949; the last season (1950-1951) of the symphony concerts; and letters between Strickland and Louise Davis, staff writer for the Nashville Tennessean, discussing the strained relationship between Strickland and Sharp which eventually led to Strickland's resignation in 1951. Originally arranged chronologically by subject matter this arrangement has been maintained.

There are fifteen reel-to-reel recordings in the collection. Twelve of the recordings are of the Nashville Symphony Orchestra in selected concerts between 1946-1951; one is the "Sound of the News" radio broadcast on April 8, 1951; and two of interviews by Louise Davis of William Strickland in 1976 and 1982.

The scrapbooks consist of copies of concert admission tickets, church newsletters and programs, clippings, correspondence (including telegrams), concert programs, lists of musical programs at the National Gallery of Art, and a transcript of the CBS radio broadcast of an organ concert on May 26, 1946 featuring Strickland and the Nashville Symphony Orchestra. The scrapbooks were arranged chronologically by Margaret F. Castle, a member of the Nashville Civic Music Association, for the Tennessee Historical Society. The original scrapbooks are housed in the Library of Congress.

The William Strickland Nashville Symphony Orchestra Papers provide valuable information and insight on the founding and the first five years of this musical association in Nashville, Tennessee.
