Administrative/Biographical History

The Fire Prevention Division was added to the Tennessee Department of Commerce & Insurance in 1937. The Division includes the state's building and safety codes enforcement operations; fire investigations; electrical, residential, and marina inspections; manufactured and modular housing; and training for volunteer and career firefighters and codes officials through the state's Fire Service and Codes Enforcement Academy. The Commissioner of Commerce and Insurance serves as the State Fire Marshal. Day-to-day operations of the Fire Prevention Division are the responsibility of a deputy commissioner.
