Administrative/Biographical History

The Department of Environment and Conservation is ethically committed to protecting and improving the quality of Tennessee's air, land, and water by managing regulatory programs that set standards for air, water, and soil quality control.

Solid and Hazardous Waste Management staff ensure the proper storage, treatment, and disposal of wastes in environmentally safe ways. Activities include permitting and inspecting landfills, investigating old dump sites that may pollute water or land, managing the state's Hazardous Waste Disposal Tracking System, and helping cities and counties handle solid waste disposal problems. The Solid Waste Management Board establishes state regulations and hears enforcement cases for violations of state laws.
